

The Moon Trophy 2016

Choosing the recipient of this award is always difficult. So many of our year 6's have contributed positively to PE and Sport throughout their time at Sandon.

This year's winner has been a 'constant.' For every activity that they have been eligible, their name has always been first on the team sheet.

This person is selected, not just for their excellent ability and athleticism, but because of the positive influence they have on the team.

In this year of Rio 2016 we should all look to the Olympic and Paralympic values. These values underpin not just sport but education and life.

Friendship : To understand one another despite differences

Respect: To play fairly

Excellence: To give your best

Determination: To have the drive to achieve goals

Inspiration: To be motivated by the achievements of others and be a positive example

Courage: To have self belief and confidence

Equality: To show respect to all

This year's winner has shown all these. Excellence is important but how you enjoy your sport is equally important. This year's winner is a shining example of both. I know she will continue to be involved in sport at her new school and the PE department are lucky to have her!

This year's winner of the Moon Trophy is:

Emma Robeson
